Stuyvesant H. S. A Special School

Stuyvesant is one of the three special schools in the city; yet every school is special in a particular field. Some have great athletic teams, others have unsurpassed laboratory facilities, and still others have different characteristics which distinguish them from all other schools. What makes Stuyvesant more unique?

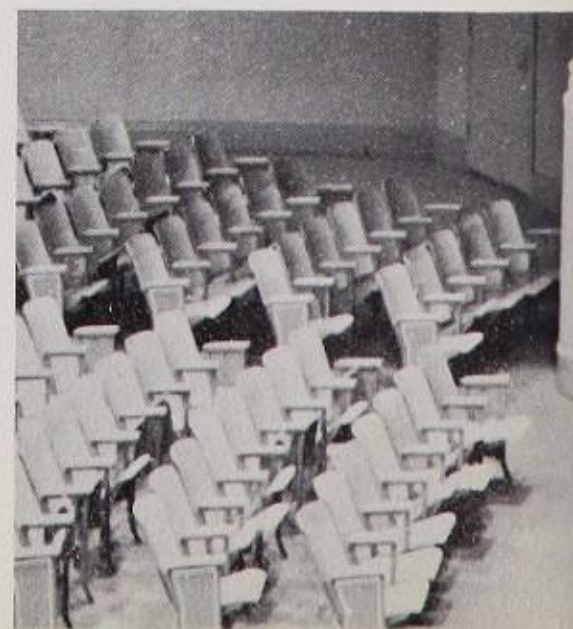

The mechanical answer to this question lies in the consistent achievements of our school body. A selective entrance examination insures the school of boys with a high intellectual ability. These students are subjected to a vigorous educational program which is enhanced by elaborate, modern facilities such as the language laboratory and the cyclotron. We also have advanced courses to expand the pupil's knowledge beyond the ordinary boundaries of the high school curriculum. This permits each boy to get a preview of his life in college and possibly an insight into his profession.

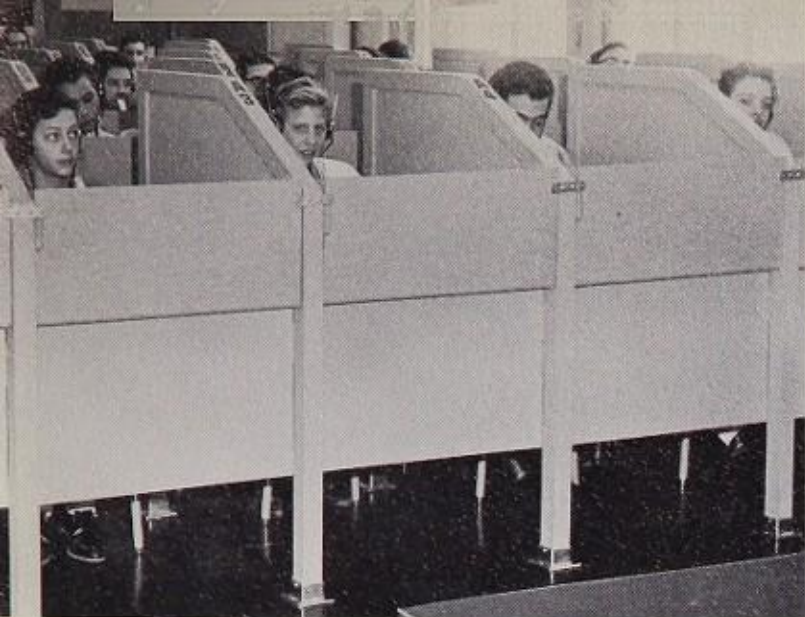

However, the student's participation in school activities does not end in the classroom. There are many clubs to further the student's knowledge in a particular area; publications to permit progress and development in creative writing and journalism; and teams to develop sportsmanship and character. These extra-curricular activities give the pupil a wide range of interests to choose from so that there is something for virtually everyone.

This also provides a means through which the students can work together and develop new skills, hobbies, and also friends.

This efficient equation of capable students plus complete educational facilities resulting in astounding achievements has been a tireless formula at Stuyvesant. Our academic rating and success in obtaining scholarships has set us apart from other schools throughout the entire nation.

Though these are glittering accomplishments, they are not the essence of Stuyvesant's character. Something more complex and subtle is the quintessence of our quality. It is the inquisitive and energetic atmosphere that lines our halls and fills our classrooms. It is a drive toward a keen knowledge and broad understanding that forces us to seek and find, instead of sit and follow.

Our deep desire for such learning finds its medium of expression in our scholastic and extra-curricular activities. When we talk of our deeds, it is not only of a finished product, dead and barren, but represents something which is alive and active. Our school has directed our ability and desire into the channels of accomplishments.

It is this well guided force, this drive towards comprehension and creation, that makes Stuyvesant a school of promise and potential—a special school.

Seven hundred and sixty boys graduate from Stuyvesant in June of 1963. What do they leave behind to show for four years of work and study? There are no tangible and definite evidences which distinguish one graduating class from another. Rather, it is the small details and little triumphs, which when put together, illustrate and highlight the achievements of one group and set it apart as something special.

Almost every class that has entered Stuyvesant has been aware of the school's reputation for scholastic excellence and therefore, has endeavored to live up to this high caliber of scholarship. The class of 1963 has proven its capability by performing admirably in the field of intellectual competition. The graduates have won an exceptional number of New York State Regents, Merit, National Honor Society, Westinghouse, and General Motors Scholarships.

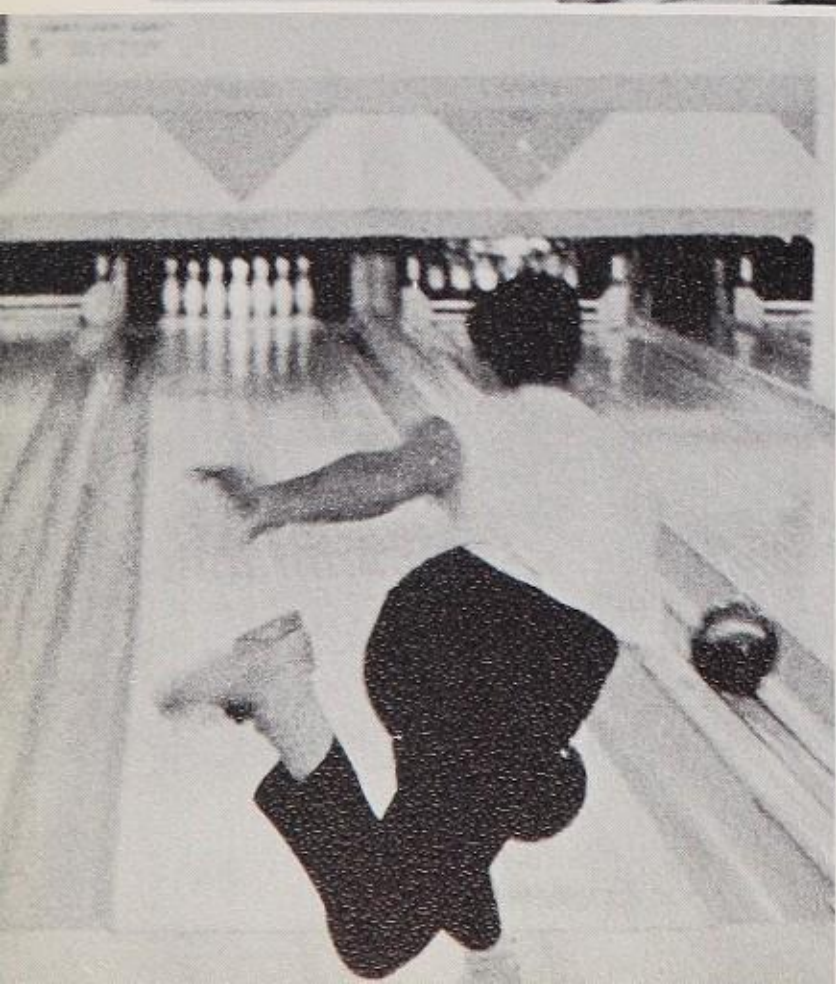

The athletic traditions have also been carried upwards by the class. The fencing, bowling, and math teams have captured the City championships while the Manhattan championships went to the swimming, rifle, debating, and chess teams. Various other teams, specifically the baseball, tennis and track teams, have good chances for high honors.

Many previous classes have also accomplished the same. What then differentiates us from those others? Perhaps it is the school spirit and the lack of apathy which prevailed throughout the class. This led to the formation of a working and popular program of intramural athletic competition and to the completion of a successful junior prom. Another longer-lasting contribution was the feeling of cooperation which was inaugurated among the major school organs. The Spectator and the General Organization ended their feud while the Caliper, Spectator, and Indicator began to seek mutual assistance.

It is interesting to note that the class has not limited itself to the usual areas of study but has reached out into specialized fields through the use of a broad and varied system of extracurricular activities. The program has attained its highest peak. There are more clubs than ever before and they are experimenting with new and worthy ideas. The G.O. has finally brought reforms beyond the planning stage while initiating new election issues. It is obvious that the citizenship program at Stuyvesant has been greatly improved and enlarged through the efforts of the graduates.

All of these things, both major and minor, form the record of 760 boys. It signifies four years of their lives, yet it is not what makes them a distinct group. That quality is something which can never be put on paper; it includes the personality of each of the individual students, which, when added together represents the 'very special' graduating class of June 1963.

FACULTY

Dedication

We, the seniors of '63, comprise the twenty-fifth class that has benefited from the labors of Mr. Murl Thrush.

Serving as a teacher in the gym and as a coach on the gridiron, he has had to overcome many obstacles. Our school attracts relatively few athletically-inclined boys. The majority of the student body is also younger than its counterparts in other schools. Despite this, and the lack of a conveniently located home stadium and practice field, Coach Thrush has consistently fielded teams respected throughout the city and honored throughout the years.

Special accomplishments require special qualities. One must have educational skills in order to transfer knowledge to students. One must have understanding in order to command and give respect. One must have patience to augment a vocational dedication. One must be cast in the mold of Mr. Thrush in order to achieve this. Many boys have come to him for help in academic and personal, as well as athletic, problems. Through his guidance in these areas, he has helped more boys to attain a college education than will graduate from Stuyvesant this year. This desire to aid others does not come as a reward for victories or as condolence for defeats. rather it comes from a man who wants to do all he can to help a boy someday become a man.

The class of 1963 dedicates this Indicator to Mr. Murl Thrush as an expression of our sincere appreciation and in recognition of his contributions as an educator, coach, counselor, and person with whom it has been a privilege to work and grow.

LEONARD J. FLIEDNER, Principal

Dear Seniors:

Graduation is but days away. For three years, long years to you, short to your teachers, we have been daily associates. During this time we have come to know, understand and I hope respect each other. Your teachers have been assiduous and dedicated to the task of helping you develop to the fullest your potential powers. You have been sincere and eager students preparing yourselves for the next steps in the business of living and growing.

May I suggest you take a few minutes to review the changes that have occurred in you during our association. Look at your Junior High School graduation picture. Note how you have grown in stature, poise and maturity of appearance. The same kind of transformation has occurred in your mental and emotional growth. The latter changes are more subtle and less readily detected, but they have taken place. Their development has been guided into safe and dependable channels by the unstinting efforts of your teachers through the media of the curriculum and personal example.

It is my hope that you will continue to tread the straight paths of character and of learning on which you have been started. They will direct your lives toward personal satisfaction and social usefulness.

Cordially yours,

Leonard J. Fliedner
Leonard J. Fliedner,
Principal

Administration

As our high school years draw to a close, we fondly begin to remember many of our experiences. It is at this time we start to wonder who was behind the scenes, and to whom we owe the credit for the extraordinarily high level of our school's activities. It is the hard working, dedicated school administrators, whom many of us tend to forget because we have little personal contact with them; but it is this handful of people who perform those vital tasks of coordinating activities, tying loose ends together and, in reality, are responsible for the running of the school.

As Principal, Dr. Leonard J. Fliedner is constantly striving to maintain the fine reputation which the school has always enjoyed. The problems he must face every year are legion, and so he must rely upon the aid of his Administrative Assistants.

Mr. Jacob Wortman is in charge of the organization of the school. He is responsible for the designing of the master program, the administration of the entrance examinations, the selection of students, and the supervision of all school records. In addition to these duties, Mr. Wortman serves as the liaison between the school and the Parents' and Alumni Associations.

Dr. William S. Roeder is in charge of the assembly programs, school safety and discipline, announcements, final examinations, and is co-ordinator of the guidance program. As administrator in charge of discipline, Dr. Roeder is assisted by Mr. Edward McGarry.

The administrative team is rounded out by Mr. Barnet Simon, Program Chairman, and by the two people best known to the Seniors—Mr. Irving Astrachan and Mrs. Sylvia Brody. Mr. Astrachan, Senior Dean and College Advisor, comes in contact with Seniors as they make their all-important decisions about their post-high-school years. As Senior Advisor, Mrs. Brody directs the many social activities of the Senior Class. She also serves as a full time guidance counselor and grade advisor to one-third of our Senior Class. Counseling the other two-thirds are grade advisors Mr. Myron Wechsler and Mr. Julius Raphael. Let us not forget the fine secretarial staff which performs its numerous invaluable daily tasks.

ACTIVITIES

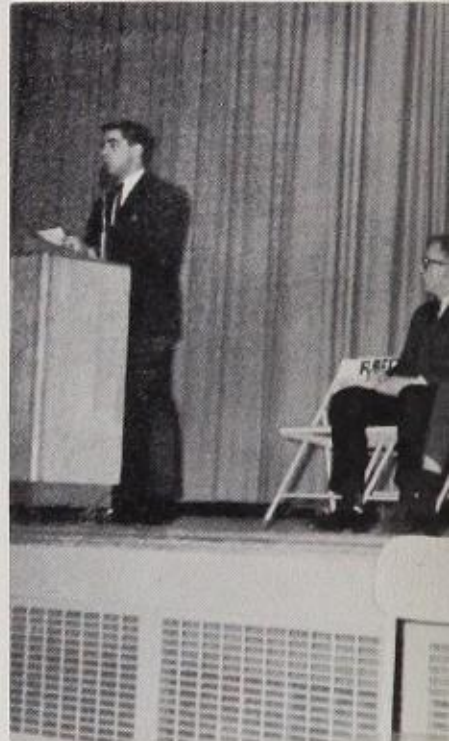

Student Government

In order to have a workable strong democracy, parliamentary procedures and actions must be implanted within the minds of students in their high school years. This is done through the Executive Council and the Cabinet or better known to the students as the G.O. Here through actual experience the students become acquainted with the democratic procedures of our system.

This year the Executive Council, the legislative branch of our student government, headed by Bruce Kaufstein in the Fall, and Paul Shapiro, in the Spring, attempted many new reforms, led much activity. A tickertape of outstanding activity would include: Form officers, council reps. and alternates chosen . . . greatest number of clubs chartered . . . Team Representative Amendment passed . . . by-laws revised . . . Sec'y Feldman, and successor Tashker, kept student body informed with posted minutes . . . initiative procedure set up . . . new issues argued in G.O. election . . . yearly elections, club newspaper defeated . . . Mr. Schindelheim replaced Mr. Herbst as Honorary G.O. President . . . G.O. discount committee made permanent . . . student guide revision and a political party system finally under serious consideration . . . city champ team sweaters for Bowlers and Fencers subsidized . . . budget expanded and revised . . . Teachers' Hall of Fame instituted. . .

The administrative branch of the G.O., consisting of approximately ten committees, is co-ordinated by the Cabinet. This regulating organ had its work cut out for it this year with our extra-curricular program at its peak.

The G.O. Vice-President is automatically chairman of the Clubs Committee. Steve Clorfeine and Marty Guggenheim had this responsibility. Herb Sussman, Arts & Publicity Chairman, kept the school aware of the G.O.'s activities, while Social Committee Chairmen, Harvey Reed and Ronny Krimper, directed many social events. Rounding out the Cabinet were Leo Sandau and Martin Bloch (Intramurals), Jeff Fliegel (Minor Publications), Robin Weiss (Elections), Ray Hodell (Membership), and Marty Lotz (Discounts).

President Kaufstein discussing legislation with Mr. Herbst.

ARTICLE VI

SELECTIONS OF G. O. OFFICERS

Candidates for the offices of President, Vice-President, Secretary, and Treasurer shall be nominated by the Honorary President. The candidates shall be accompanied by the signatures of at least five students. All candidates having satisfied the requirements shall be voted upon in a convention. The two candidates for each office shall be declared the winners, on a date selected by the Honorary President. The provisions of the by-laws the nomination of the entire student body, who shall vote by ballot.

ARTICLE VII

FORM COUNCIL MEMBERSHIP

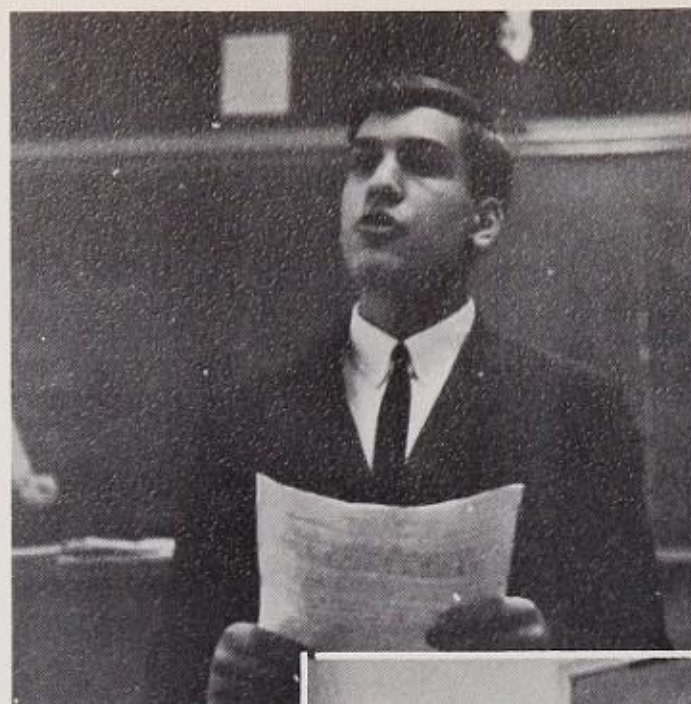

Not later than the second week of the school year, each class shall elect a class president and a class vice-president for one term, except for lower grades. The class president shall be in charge of the class organization in his class and shall assume the duties of the class president in his absence.

(b) On or before a date to be selected by the Honorary President, in accordance with the provisions of the by-laws, such students as are eligible to hold the position of Form President shall present their names, accompanied by the signatures of at least five students, to the Honorary President.

The Senior Council has two principal purposes; it must vote on measures concerning the Senior class and it should act as a liaison between the G.O. and the students. Under the able direction of Martin Zimmerman, Richard Rubin and Phil Skolnik, this year's council has admirably achieved both goals.

Composed of the senior official class presidents, the council has met in monthly sessions to shape the plans for all senior activities. Early in the year, the council organized several committees, giving each the responsibility of obtaining the students' opinions before acting on any proposals. In two referendums, the seniors voted to hold a formal Senior Prom and an informal Senior Drag. A red beret was selected as the Senior hat, a Senior intramural volleyball program was set up and plans for a boat trip to Bear Mountain were put into effect.

This year's Senior class has been highly responsive to these measures, immeasurably aiding the task of these legislators, and it is hoped that their work will benefit future graduating classes as well as the Class of '63.

The Arista, composed of more than one hundred seniors and juniors of Stuyvesant, is one of the most dynamic student bodies in the school. The Arista meets regularly to discuss school and outside problems, and to try to channel the spare time of willing members usefully. At Arista meetings, members discuss and vote on various issues, such as whether or not Arista should officially render an opinion on various events outside of Stuyvesant and whether or not Arista requirements should be changed. Committees and other special activities are also coordinated through the meetings. The work of the Arista is supervised by Victor Rosov, leader of Arista, and the Arista Council, under the guidance of Mrs. Baron, faculty advisor.

The Arista sponsors, among others, such agencies as a Tutoring Committee, which offers help in most subjects given at Stuyvesant, a Big Brother Committee, which helps new students to adjust to the school, and a Visiting Committee, which, upon request by various Junior High Schools, lectures to students on the advantages of Stuyvesant. In addition, this year Arista sponsored a drive to collect used paperback books from students for use by blind people, who bind them in hard covers for recreation, lectures for students, and a tutoring service for underprivileged children. Throughout the year, the Arista has been very active inside and outside of school, helping people and trying to set a high standard of excellence in student activities.

Publications

Stuyvesant's publications, perennial award-winners and objects of praise, have always been of high caliber. But their rewards go far beyond mere medal-winning—they are to be remembered for the satisfaction, knowledge, experience and achievements gained by the more than three-hundred students who participated in them.

This year's Spectator, in its forty-eighth year of publication, was successful in remaining "the pulse of the student body." Throughout the year it proved to be invaluable by disseminating important information to the students.

Under the editorship of Elliott Hefler and Marvin Milbauer, the Spectator used many imaginative and interesting ideas. A story about Vachel Lindsay, great poet and father of a teacher at Stuyvesant, the history of the "Delaney Card" and a book review of a great contemporary novel are only highlights of the many fine articles that graced the pages of our newspaper during the Fall term.

When Martin Nussbaum and Ira Eelman took the reins for the spring term, the Spectator underwent a great change. The five-column page in use since 1945, was discarded and a new six-column paper was initiated. The added space enabled many things to be done, the highlight of the year being the famous Instigator.

Stuyvesant is a school of tradition. And nowhere is that tradition more inherent than in the Spectator, a vital part of the student body for almost half a century.

Sports Editor Robbins reviews his column with Hefler and Milbauer.

Mr. Wozniak discussing plans with Licht.

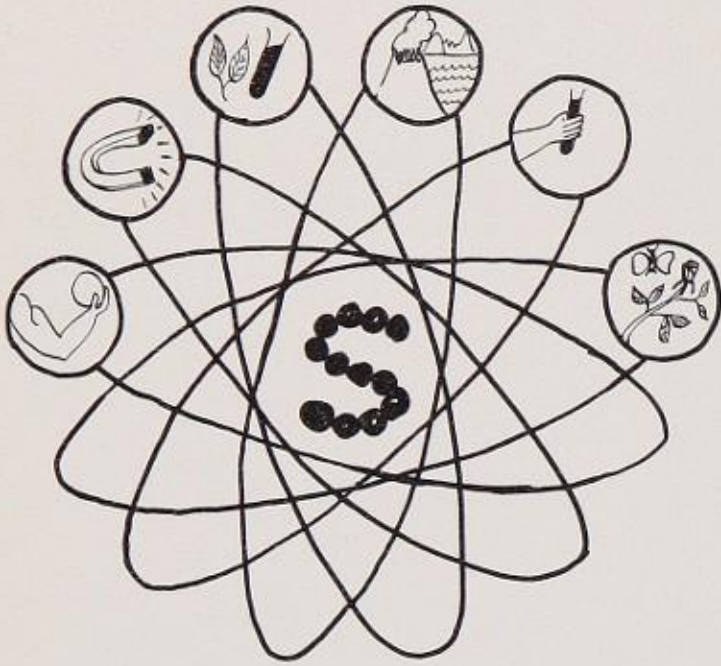

Licht and Weinblatt examining the Fall issue of the Caliper.

Stuyvesantians can justifiably be proud of this year's Caliper. A preponderance of well-written, provocative articles has made the issues among the best in the history of the school. The original art work and creative photography was of high quality and helped to make these Caliper issues representative of the best any publication has to offer from a literary and artistic viewpoint. What could be better than an excellent Caliper to open up the eyes of the few who still think of Stuyvesant as solely a scientifically-oriented institution?

Mr. Wozniak, the faculty adviser of the publication, expressed the opinion of the entire school when he said of this year's Caliper, "It is one of the finest literary magazines in the city." He then went on to say that it "competes with the best college magazines."

Particular thanks for such fine issues must be extended to Walter Licht, Editor-in-Chief for the Fall term and Victor Weinblatt, Editor-in-Chief for the Spring. It was their efforts and those of the whole staff and the many contributors who worked to make the Caliper the exemplary publication it has been and, no doubt, will continue to be.

NUCLEUS

Since its inception as the unified science journal of Stuyvesant High School, the Nucleus has tried to encompass all the fields of science in one publication. This year's issue, the third, has continued the practice of printing comprehensive scientific articles while also expanding the esthetic qualities of the magazine through improved art work. Under the careful guidance of Dr. Alexander Efron, the faculty advisor, the entire staff has worked diligently towards the goal of producing an inclusive scientific periodical. Jerry Green, the Editor-in-Chief, with his associate editors, Kenneth Lerner, Allan Khoury, Jerrold Nadler, Allan Lichtman, Steve Riess, and Gregory Belok, have directed this work and have tried to make this year's issue a truly outstanding one.

Out of the many clubs and societies of our school come a number of publications which present new concepts, theories, and current events of assorted topics. With the help of faculty advisors, these magazines are almost entirely produced by the student body.

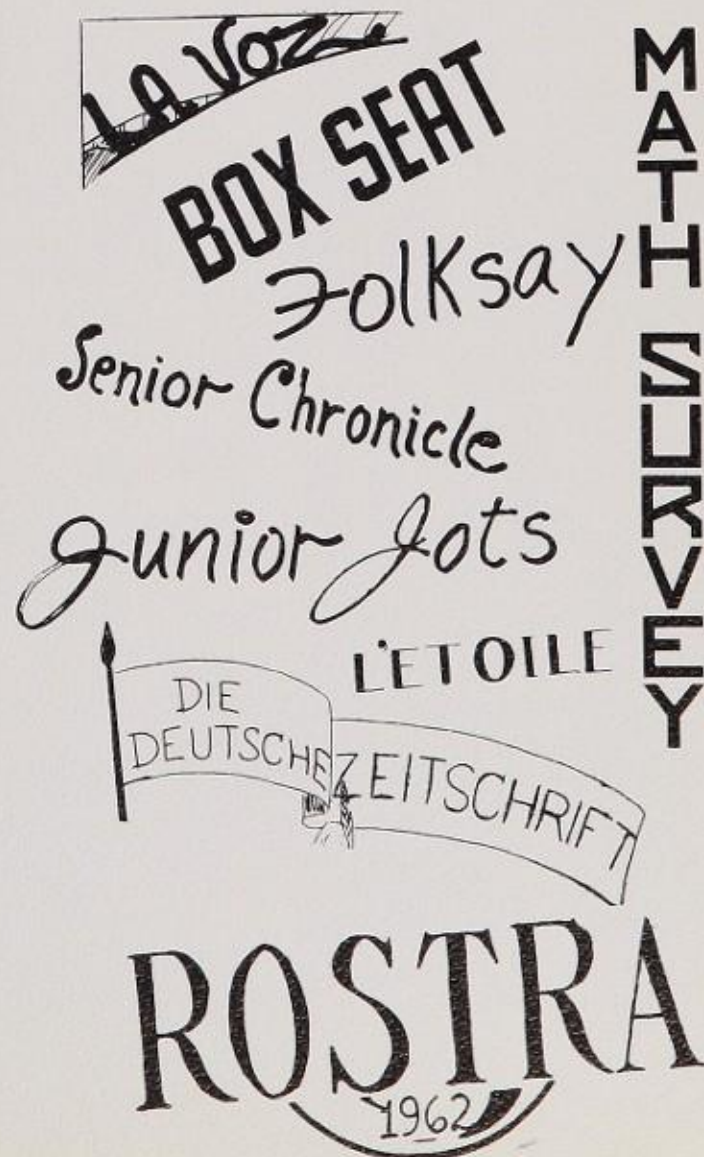

L'Etoile, from the French Society, is an informative, helpful and truly interesting magazine written entirely in French. It contains news articles, essays, crossword puzzles, and many other features. Also from the Language Department are Kol Hatalmeed (Hebrew), the Rostra (Latin), La Voz Estaivesantiana (Spanish), and Die Deutsche Zeitschrift (German).

Other publications are the Junior Jots and the Senior Chronicle which provide information and entertainment for their respective classes; the Math Survey which propounds math theory and practice; the Box Seat which reports school sports; and the Folksay which supplements the activities of Stuyvesant's Folk Singers.

Stuyvesant's minor, yet important, publications are symbolic of the cooperation between students and faculty, and of the diverse activities in which they engage.

Faculty Advisor

The door had once been a drab grey with only 27 haphazard black letters decorating it. The letters meekly spelled out STUYVESANT NUCLEAR LABORATORY and very few people knew the door existed; those who did, ignored it.

Those days are in the past. Room 123 has become a virtual community center; its door can attest to that. Now the door is vividly adorned with white sheets of paper declaring INDICATOR OFFICE, 123, ARISTA OFFICE, SPECTATOR OFFICE (SOMETIMES).

It is within this chamber that the '63 Indicator was created. The walls inside were scarred as a result of tacking reminders on them; the waste-paper baskets were full of the papers discarded during the periodic "house-cleaning" sessions; the file and desk were full to the brim with pictures, write-ups, layout sheets, old yearbooks, etc; the supplementary picture file (a shopping bag) was filled to capacity with pictures that just didn't make it; the floor was scuffed by the dozens of staff members who came in with their work or to do their work and by the hoards of others who passed through.

You sometimes wonder if it's all worth it, all the work, all the time that could've been spent otherwise, all the worrying, wondering, rushing—then when June 7 arrived, you knew it was all worth it. It is this feeling and the anticipation of it which makes all publications thrive. The '63 Indicator is no exception.

Music and Drama

The Stuyvesant Music Department is renowned throughout the city. Comprised of the orchestra, band, and glee club and coupled with the drama and theatre, they try to instill in the student an appreciation of the fine arts.

The school Orchestra displays unusual versatility by performing selections ranging from Bach to Rossini. Under the direction of Mr. Chusid, the orchestra was taught how to reveal the sweet, slow and melodic music of Bach in Sheep May Safely Graze, and yet not lose its taste for the high-spirited stormy music of Rossini in William Tell.

The student also learned to play the classic music of Corelli and at the same time, the sharp rhythm of the Jamaican Rumba. Recently, Mr. Friedman has taken over and has continued the traditions of the school orchestra, making it one of the finest musical organizations in the city.

Stuyvesantians can be equally and justifiably proud of their Band. Under the able leadership of instructor and conductor, Mr. Bart, this year's band has maintained the fine traditional musical quality that it is known for. The band characterized this year by its fine woodwind, saxophone and French horn sections, may be considered as among the finest in our city. Comprised of more than sixty students, the band proves enjoyable not only to its audiences but to its participants as well.

If one were to walk through the fourth floor halls during the fourth or fifth periods, he would find them echoing with the sounds of one hundred strong, enthusiastic voices that comprise the Stuyvesant Glee Club. Mr. Harris, who has been the able and inspiring director for many years, was unfortunately not with us during the Fall term. This did not halt the traditional winter concert, the culmination of its members' weeks of fruitful practicing. Mr. Chusid stepped in and day by day, the tedious rehearsals and unrelenting practicing finally resulted in the musical perfection of such pieces as Set Down Servant, a spiritual, You'll Never Walk Alone, and Invictus. The Stuyvesant Glee Club ably upheld the choral aspect of a tradition of outstanding fine arts achievement and as usual, both the spring and winter concerts were extremely successful.

Supplementing the outstanding musical achievements displayed by the bi-annual concert are the dramatic productions participated in by Stuyvesantians.

Three Stuyvesantians, Dan Chernoble, Jerry Raik, and E. T. Morman, had lead roles in the major production of the Advanced Drama Class in Julia Richman High School. Directed by Miss Juliano of the Julia Richman faculty, The Marriage, a satirical comedy by Nikolai Gogol, was presented on February 15th, in the High School of Art and Design auditorium.

The senior class tried a new concept this year by undertaking The Birds, a Greek comedy by Aristophanes. After it was revised and modernized, rehearsals began in March under the direction of Mrs. Baron, Mr. Jensen, and Mr. Copeland. With H. Sussman, E. Brown, A. Rosenberg, E. Morman, and S. Clorfeine playing leads, and approximately ten students serving as the Greek chorus, Stuyvesantians looked forward to the performance of this truly different production in May.

Interscholastic Teams

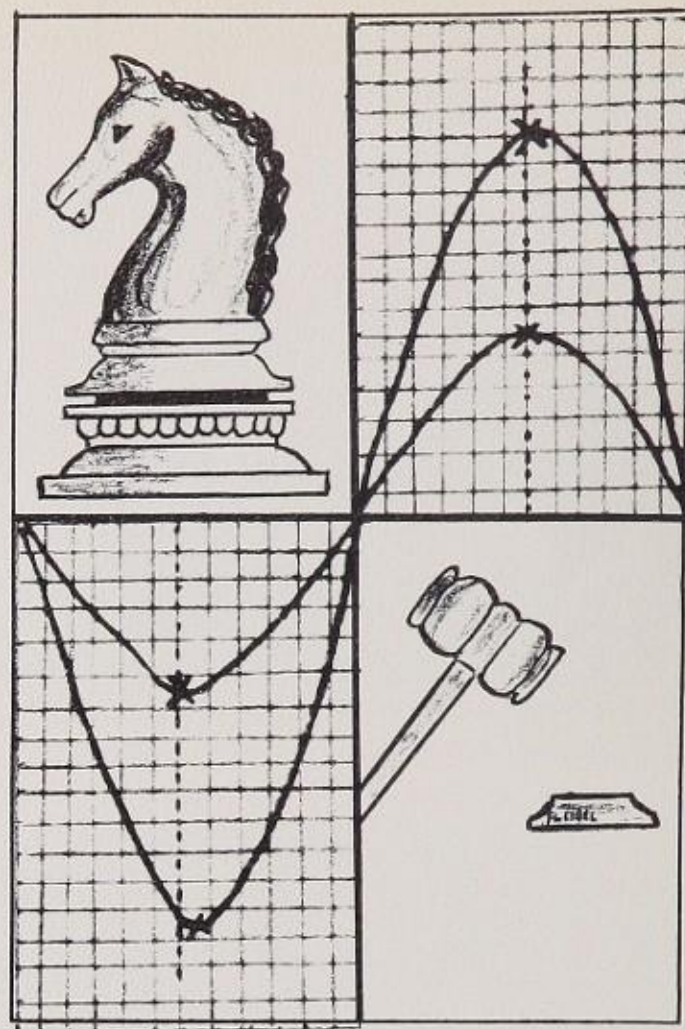

Stuyvesant can boast not only of excellence in its athletic teams, but also in its interscholastic teams. Our Senior year was no exception to this tradition. The Debating, Math, and Chess teams reached even greater heights and better records.

Forensic activity certainly reached its apex this year. Under the leadership of Captain Allan Lichtman, the Debaters achieved an unprecedented record of 22-6 against the best teams of the greater Metropolitan area. In addition, our debaters swept away the honors in various interscholastic tournaments. In the field of extemporaneous speaking, Stuyvesant placed second in the state at the Hamilton College Invitational Debate Tournament.

This year witnessed the team's greatest achievement in another respect. Stuyvesant became the first New York City public school to gain admission to the National Forensic League, which means that the Debating team can participate in nationwide contests in the years to come.

Success came also to the Math team for under the able leadership of Mr. Greenberg it won the City Championship. Veteran Captain William Lepowsky ended the season tied for city scoring honors. The other members of the team are Roger Lehecka, Philip Greco, Neil Felsinger, and Harvey Sohnen. To win the City Crown, the "pencil chewers" had to out-think the intelligentsia of Bronx Science, Brooklyn Tech, and twenty-five other New York City schools. In doing this, they strongly upheld our school's reputation for excellence in the field of Mathematics.

The 1963 Chess team has a high standard to meet. Last year's team captured the City Championship by defeating Midwood and Bronx Science in the City Finals. Fortunately they are well equipped, for the entire squad has returned with the exception of last year's Captain, Steve Fellner. Led this year by Gilbert Goon, the team's chances for a third straight City Title seem excellent. Under the guidance of Coach Calabrese and with the help of Seniors Altschuler, Zapantis, Fisher, Rothenberg, and Somerstein, the third of our interscholastic teams will equal the success achieved by the other two and make this a banner year for Stuyvesant.

Clubs

One only needs to walk through Stuyvesant's halls on any given afternoon in order to appreciate the extensive range of clubs which exist. If your attention is not caught by the rousing debate coming from the Debating Society or the music from the Beethoven Society or from the lecture taking place in either the History, Modern Chemistry, Bio-Med. or Math Societies you will be stopped in your tracks upon hearing the spirited voices and accompaniment of Stuyvesant's Folk Singers.

The purpose of each and every club is to provide an outlet for students' interests and hobbies, as well as to provide educational instruction. The language clubs, Spanish, French, Russian, German, Hebrew, and Latin, all seek to develop speaking skills in the respective languages while learning about the countries in which the language is spoken. The Fine Arts Society, Modern Theatrical Review, and The Forum all provide cultural outlets for students, while the Woodwind Quintet and the Dance & Jazz Band do the same for musically-inclined students. One can learn more about railroading, boats and celestial bodies by attending meetings of the Model Railroading, Boat, and Astronomy Clubs. The Radio Club, in its 40th year, operates amateur radio station W2CLE, while the Intramural Bowling League, in its first year, has attracted the largest membership with its trophy-awarding competitive program. Rounding out the list are the Photography Club, emphasizing both theory and practice; the Philatelic Society, stressing good collecting and fair trading; and the Journalism Club, preaching objective writing and careful editing.

Stuyvesant boasts the largest extra-curricular activity program of any high school in the city and its club program well exemplifies that boast.

SPORTS

Fall Sports

In September, as school begins and the fall season unfolds,* the one sport on everybody's mind is football; the one team on everybody's mind, the football team. A good team, however, is not necessarily the one that wins all or most of its games. It is the one that shows rallying spirit and fights hard in all games. This was the case of the 1962 Stuyvesant Football Team.

This year was the 25th year Coach Thrush led the team. He was determined to improve on the 2-4 record of 1961. Led by the fine play of quarterback Dave Brendel and Captain Wade Johnson, the team won the first two close games against Monroe and Adams. Shut out by two fine teams in the next games, the team rallied to upset Curtis 24-8. It was the best game played during the year by both the offense and defense, said Coach Thrush, and exemplified the fighting spirit of the team. In the last two games of the year, Al Jackson and Freeman Brockington scored the lone touchdowns for Stuyvesant.

At the end of the year, Johnson and Mike Jackson were on the 2nd All-City Team and Shalleck, Tosch and Brendel received honorable mention. Potential All-City guard, Captain Gary Markman, was out most of the season, due to an injury. His absence was a big loss to the team. The final record for the season was 3-4.

Another integral part of the football team is the Cheerleaders who carry out the invaluable function of shouting encouragement to our players while rallying the support of our spectators.

This season's cheerleaders were led by Theodore Burrell of Stuyvesant and Jennifer Fenster and Linda Lee Bizar of Hunter. It was the undaunted spirit of our cheerleaders that maintained the consistently high spirits and proved that our athletes' performances do not go unappreciated.

Stuyvesant Natator backflips.

Stuyvesant's Swimming Team, the Natators, headed by Captain Mike Mutnick and Co-Captain Don Neuwirth, this year captured the Manhattan Championship. Spurred on by Coach Gioberti, the team successfully defeated eight other Manhattan schools, only to be beaten by Jamaica. This placed them third in the City Championship. The contests the Natators competed in included Freestyle, Backstroke, Breaststroke, Butterfly, Individual Medley, Medley Relays, and Diving events. The team's victories are partly due to the team's great number of outstanding members, among them Marion and Greenberg, recognized as two of the best divers in the city. The Natators remain, in the words of Mike Mutnick, "the greatest water polo team in the world."

This year the Soccer Team, co-captained by Paul Masnyj and Peter Darmohraj, placed last in the Manhattan Championship. Coach Calabrese credits the defeats partially to "lack of teamwork," and partially to the fact that Mr. Cavallero had to be replaced as coach in the middle of the season because of an injury. The team did capture a few standards in the field, however, defeating Manhattan Vocational High, and being the only team this year to score against Haaren High, a feat engineered by Masnyj. Practically all of the eighteen starting men on this year's team are graduating in June. Mr. Calabrese will probably continue as coach. Although the season's results were far from satisfying, Mr. Calabrese expects a good team of incoming players.

Winter Sports

As winter beings, all other sports fade into the background when basketball, riflery, fencing, and bowling once again take over the athletic spotlight.

This year's Basketball Team has shown improvement over last year's. We won three big games out of a total of six with Food Trades, Chelsea, and Bronx Vocational. These were by scores of 62-57, 68-64, and 74-64, respectively.

As we look at the team itself, we see Barry Grieff at back-court position. Barry is the backbone of the team and has averaged a terrific total of 25 points per game. His high games are 29 against Fashion Industries and the unbelievable total of 42 points in the second Bronx Vocational game. In the latter, he his 74% of his shots from the floor and was six for six at the foul line. Cary Kart is Barry's partner at backcourt, with Bernie Grossberg. John Chamberlain, our 77-inch center, scored 36 in the two Food Trades games and 18 in the second Bronx Vocational game. Andy Goldman's ten point average and many rebounds made the season complete.

Those who did not frequent the vicinity of the 33 Street Armory might be quite startled by the echoes of heavy fire originating from within the Armory's walls. Is this the vanguard of an armed invasion? Spies? No, for here the Stuyvesant Rifle Team practices to capture the division and City crowns.

This year's team, triggered by its co-captains and only returning lettermen, Don Levis and Jonas Gelb, already had performed in the usual Stuyvesantian fine style. Don and Jonas with the skillful shooting of Barry Cohen, Jules Rothstein, Roger Walker, John Siemssen, Alvin Sager, Fred Shanok and Roy Baron along with Joel Friedman and John Brod, the managers, give us once again the beginning of an undefeated history. First in Manhattan, we have achieved distinction in the city.

"The members of the team are inexperienced, but could go all the way. They have a lot of talent."

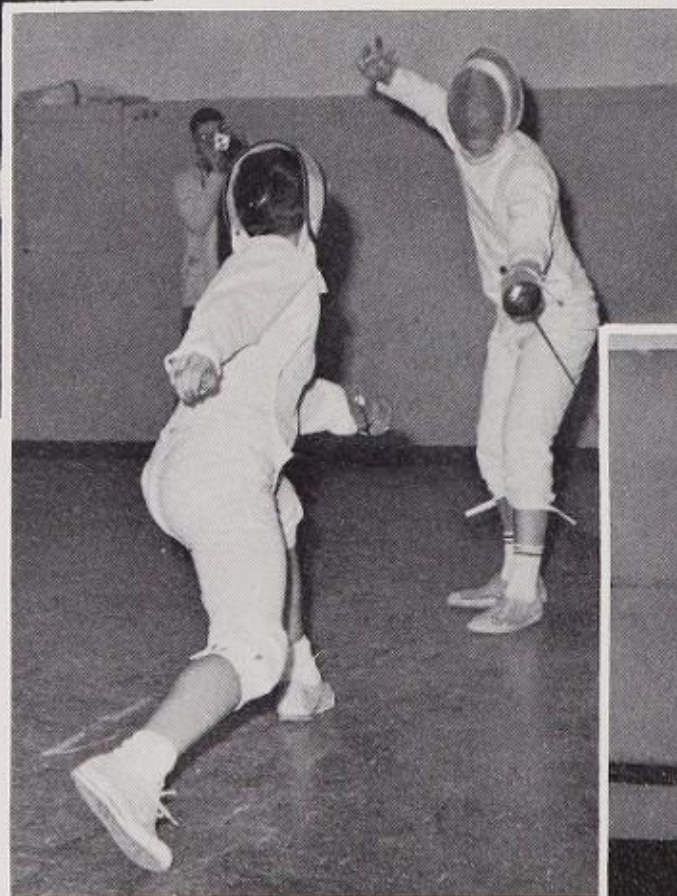

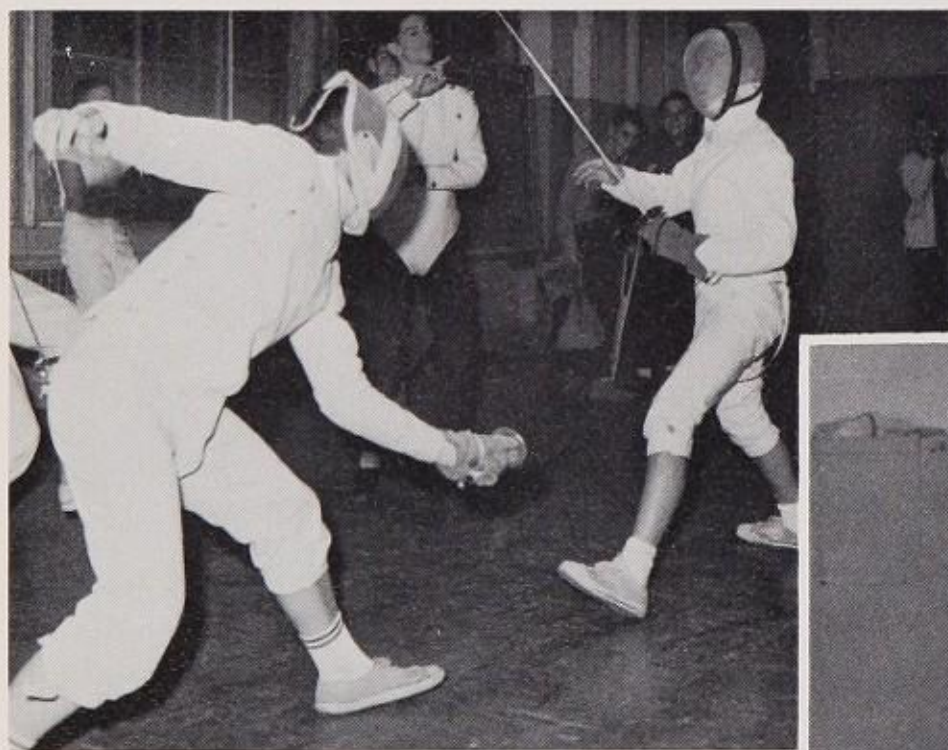

Coach Sheldon's prediction was realized as the Pegleg Foilsmen marched on to their third consecutive City Championship and the first undefeated season in eleven years. Captained by Larry Miller and Tom Musliner, the team's chances were plagued at the season's opening by a complete lack of experience. The entire varsity team from the previous year had graduated.

Undaunted, the Stuyvesant fencers showed that experience isn't a prerequisite to victory as they collected eight wins in eight games to cop the league crown. The only team to score more than three points against them was the team's traditional rival, Roosevelt, which was finally defeated by the close score of 7-5.

The semi-finals match against Boys High saw an enthusiastic crowd of Stuyvesantians come out to watch their Foilsmen sweep the field with a substantial victory. The finals match, played on December 13, once more showed a strong and determined team. They gradually disposed of their opponents, Jamaica and Brooklyn Tech, to win the City Crown and uphold Stuyvesant's long tradition of Fencing Championships.

It was a good year for the Stuyvesant Bowling Team. Easily fulfilling Co-Captain Jon Robbins' prediction of a win in the division, the Keglers went undefeated in league play. They then went on to win the Manhattan Championship. The semi-final of the city championship was the next step. Winning this, the team earned the right to compete for the championship in a match televised on Saturday, January 26. After winning the first game and losing the second one, our team came from behind to win the match and the championship by one pin in what was easily the most exciting game of the season.

In February, our team members once more showed their individual skill in the PSAL singles competition. Here, Dennis Hanulak won the individual championship with Co-Captain Jay Weiss finishing sixth.

The team was led by Co-Captains Jay Weiss and Jon Robbins under the coaching of Mr. Shulman. Weiss paced the team, posting high game, series and average. It was also the efforts of the fourth starter, Stu Fisher, coupled with a fine line of substitutes, that helped to make this year such a successful one.

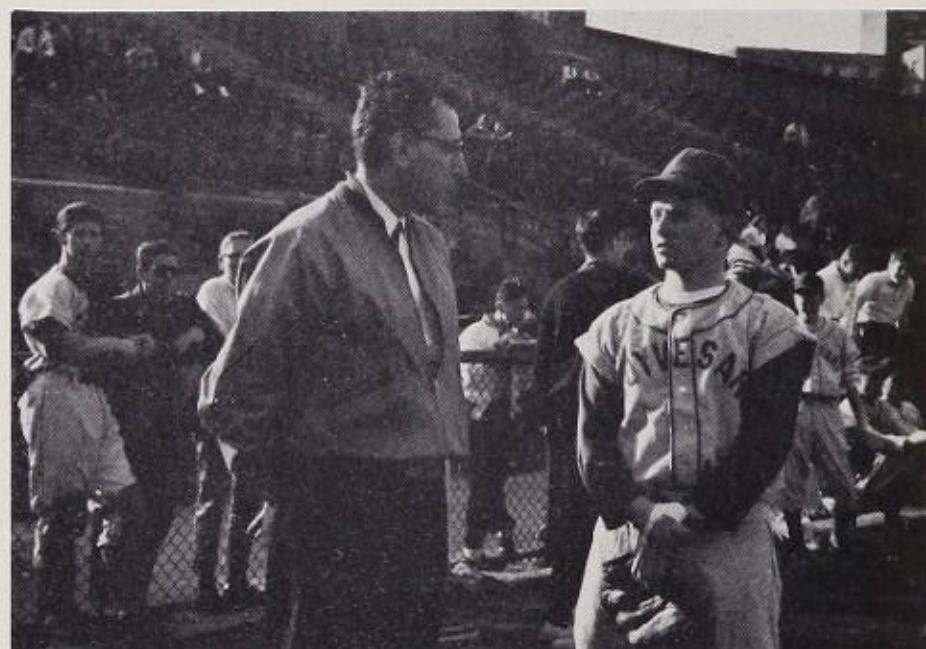

Spring Sports

The teams at Stuyvesant that compete during the Spring season are looking forward to producing outstanding records. The Baseball, Handball, Golf, Tennis, and Track teams are optimistic about completing seasons that will either equal or surpass last year's showing. With squads consisting of experience-hardened Seniors, these teams expect to uphold Stuyvesant's traditional superiority in their respective sports.

The Baseball Team has the formidable record of last year's team to set as its goal, but the experience of this year's players should make it very possible to produce a 10-0 record. The ability of Captain Lenny Gries in the infield, with Nick Babounakis in the outfield, and pitcher John Johnston and the efforts of the rest of the members will prove to be a strong foundation for a winning team. The boys hope to overcome the lack of facilities by beginning practice in February instead of March. With this early start, Coach Cavallaro will be able to take maximum advantage of building strong pitching and fielding. As a result of coordinating the good points of the team, the coach and captain should be able to come up with a team that will place high in the race for the City Championship.

Douglas Land swings away.

Mr. Arthur Jacob retired this year from his coaching of the Golf Team. He has held this position since 1926, and has piloted many teams through successful seasons. Mr. Jacob is a golf pro who gives lessons regularly at the Copake Country Club. He was hit by a stroke of lightning on July 12, 1948, and got a hole in one on the same day; a feat not duplicated by many. Mr. Gaffney will coach the team this year.

The team captain, Charles Vermont, had an undefeated record last year. He is an expert driver and putter, and is the team's brightest hope. Vermont is backed by Jerry Green, a strong driver; Charles Poret, who is skilled with the short irons, and Douglas Land, who is a precision putter. All are seniors.

The Linksmen's meets are nine holes each and are held under the rules of match play. The golf team expects to win the Manhattan Championship this year, but it is unlikely that they will match the strength of the Queens and Staten Island teams.

The Tennis Team may bring Stuyvesant a City Championship. The team has spent the entire year practicing, and the prospects look good.

A visitor to the Broome Street or Central Park tennis courts would see a frenzy of activity, and hear the plunkety-plunk of tennis ball against cat-gut, as the team's 7 varsity players prepare for their 3 singles and 2 doubles matches. Most of the work will probably be in preparation for Clinton, the traditional rival.

Whatever that visitor might see, Coach Stanley Shulman would be sure to see. He has directed the team for the past six years. This year, he introduced indoor practice sessions and vigorous springtime workouts for the team. Coach Shulman looks forward to a good year.

Ready for their opening game on April 8, the Stuyvesant Wallbeaters are looking forward to a very successful season. The three boys returning from last year's team (Captain Jim Lipman and Harry Newman, both seniors, and junior Stan Blum) together with the exceptionally good players who are trying out for the first time will make both the singles and doubles teams some of the best in the city.

Despite the decrease in the number of league games from 12 to 8, Coach Sheldon feels that the team will do as well or even better than last year's team, which finished with an 11 and 2 record, sixth in the city and second in the division.

The Pegleg Cross-Country Squad has once more executed a very successful season. Under the adroit supervision of Mr. Moses Davis, the Harriers captured a gold trophy by placing 3rd in the PSAL Manhattan Championships. The season's best individual time was run by Captain Jon Craine, who was clocked at 14:33 for the tortuously hilly 2½ mile trek. Other seniors on the team were Richie Gerson, Peter Ziemba, Edme Richen, Lanny Hecker, and Ben Davidian.

The 1962-63 season looked very promising for Stuyvesant's Track Team with the return of many medal winners. The Cinder-men immediately began the season by crushing the High School of Printing, 61-11, and devastating the Brooklyn Tech team, 72-27, in the first two indoor dual meets. Captain George Kolodiy led the team, recording excellent times of 23.8 seconds in the 220-yard dash and 54.8 seconds in the quarter mile. The team then went on to defeat Sheepshead Bay, 55-44, Seward Park, 47-7, and Madison, 63-27, to complete an undefeated indoor season. Strong in spirit and ability, the team's goal was to present Coach Davis with a Manhattan Championship in both indoor and outdoor competition.

Stuyvesant's Coaches

"I always felt that Stuyvesant boys had proficiency and interest in extra-curricular activities and as a Stuyvesant graduate I knew that it was hard to obtain faculty advisors. Thus when I returned to Stuyvesant as a teacher, I wanted to serve as much as I could."

These words, spoken by Coach Gioberti, are an expression of the spirit, devotion, and great interest which all of Stuyvesant's coaches have. It is these qualities that make these men give up valuable time and energy so that the school can support the full range of teams allowed by the PSAL. Many of them took their coaching jobs, in spite of other extra-curricular duties they had, because they knew that if they didn't, their respective teams would no longer be able to exist. The Class of '63 wishes to take this opportunity to extend an enthusiastic "thank you," to these fine men.

Seven years ago Mr. Shulman took over the Tennis Team. Thinking back over those years he recalls the successful years, crowned by the winning of the Bronx-Manhattan Championship, and the disappointing years, ruined by our traditional tennis nemesis, Bronx High School of Science. The Bowling Team came under Mr. Shulman's jurisdiction in 1957. Since then the team has won 5 out of 6 Manhattan Championships. When asked why he enjoys his coaching work so much, Mr. Shulman simply replied, "Because it's fun."

Another coach who enjoys his work very much, in spite of the numerous problems he has had to face, is Mr. Cavallaro. He finds his work very satisfying and aims to carry on the honor of the school in Basketball and Baseball. The highlight of Mr. Cavallaro's 2 year coaching history is, of course, the Baseball Team's winning of the Manhattan Championship last spring.

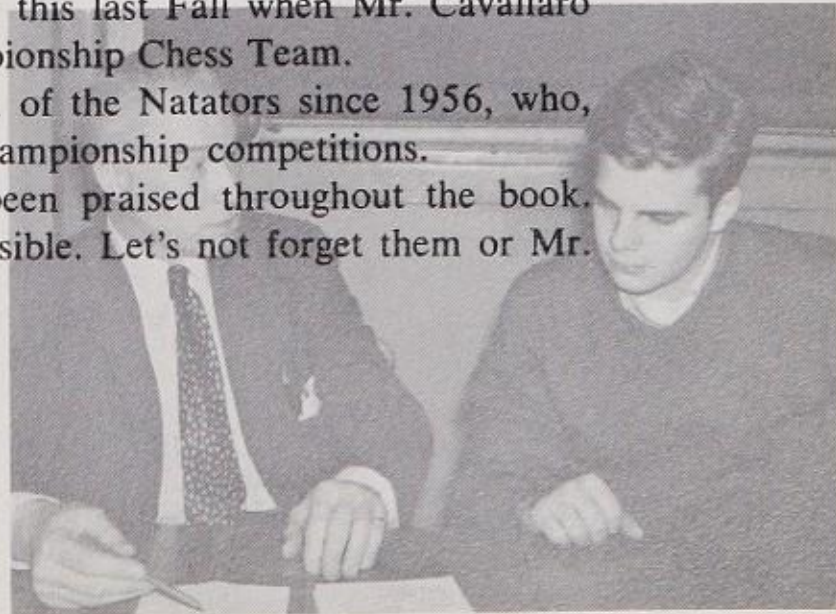

The most successful results, as far as team records go, have been recorded by Mr. Sheldon, who also has been coaching for only 2 years. His three teams, the Riflers, Fencers, and Wallbeaters, have all finished at or near the top of their divisions and he has carried on the tradition of a Fencing City Championship.

In contrast to the short coaching reigns of Messrs. Cavallaro and Sheldon you have the long and varied coaching careers of Messrs. Davis and Jacob. Mr. Davis first saw action as Stuyvesant's baseball coach for 5 years. He then switched over to his present position as Track & Cross-Country coach. This job he has held for 12 years. Mr. Jacob, a professional golf instructor, has been coaching the golf team for 37 years.

The newest addition to Stuyvesant's coaching staff is Mr. Calabrese, who was kind enough to take over the Soccer Team this last Fall when Mr. Cavallaro was out sick. He doubles as coach of the Championship Chess Team.

And let us not forget Mr. Gioberti, coach of the Natators since 1956, who, year after year, has led his team into many championship competitions.

These are the men. The statistics have been praised throughout the book. They are the ones who make those records possible. Let's not forget them or Mr. Thrush to whom this book has been dedicated.

Retrospect

Our high school years are an important part of our lives. It is during these years that we get the foundation of knowledge, both academic, emotional, and practical, which will be expanded upon during our college years. These are the years when the transition from adolescence to manhood occurs. These are the years when we can first really develop our interests, both curricular and extra-curricular. These are the years when the first of life-long friendships may take form. These years, although they may seem unimportant in contrast to the college years, are important in their own particular aspects and in the role they play in preparing us for the future.

This book has attempted to capture one complete year—our senior year, the culminating year of our high school career, the year of trial and tribulation, the year of work and relaxation, the year in which we finished an important phase of our lives. A second aim was to portray the environment in which we spent at least six hours of almost every weekday for ten months of the last 3 to 4 years. We consider our graduating class, and our school, special. This we said in the beginning of this book. We have developed this theme throughout the book. Here we are stating it again. It is our hope that all of us can turn back to this book in future years and know why our class and school are special and what we did, what happened during our high school years.

It's all over now. The last handshake, the last goodbye has been made at Graduation. All those years of work, play, and activity are over. All those friends, buddies, co-workers are gone. All we have left are our memories. Let us just vow that we see each other again, that we will get together some time to reminisce, to talk, to have good times together. Let us hope that our college years will be even more successful and memorable. Best wishes to all of you from the Indicator Editorial Board.

Our Strong Band

Our strong band can ne'er be broken,
Formed in Stuyvesant High,
Far surpassing wealth unspoken,
Sealed by friendship's tie.

Stuyvesant High School, now and ever,
Deep graven on each heart,
Shall be found unwavering, true,
When we from life shall part.

High school life at best is passing,
Gliding swiftly by,
Then let us pledge in word or deed
Our love for Stuyvesant High.

Putting together a yearbook is not an easy job. On the contrary, it requires a tremendous amount of work and effort not only for its staff members, but for the many other people who are involved. These others are the ones who do extra tasks and "little things" without which the production of our book would have been impossible. For this reason we wish to thank:

The Administration and entire faculty for their cooperation.

Mrs. Brody, our senior advisor, whom we involved with all our problems, no matter how large or small. We wish to express an extra thanks to Mrs. Brody for her help during the absence of Mrs. Antell, our faculty advisor.

Mr. Gruosso, our photography teacher, for the technical assistance that he gave us.

Mrs. Kappelman and Mr. Wozniak, of the English Department, for their invaluable advice.

Mr. Frank Chillemi and Irwin Pfanzett, of Rappaport Studios, for all the work that they so ably did.

Mr. Art Fleisher, of The Comet Press, for his patient assistance, advice, and aid.

THE STUYVESANT ALUMNI AND SCHOLARSHIP
ASSOCIATION

This is your Association. Through it, you continue your ties with Stuyvesant - and help the Stuyvesantians of the future.

In the past nine years, the Association has awarded over $80,000 in scholarships. Committees of graduates in various fields offer vocational and professional guidance and advice.

The Association has special membership dues for current graduates, which comes out of your senior dues, and covers you throughout your first four years in college.

Information of your activities in and out of college, for the Alumni Bulletin is always welcome, and helps to preserve our bonds.

We welcome the graduates of 1963
